First Down with Fr. Eric

Dear Friends,

Happy Mother's Day. Our country takes the opportunity to recognize the role of mothers.

We honor the women in our parish community who have been given the gift of bringing life into the world. Women have life in their wombs and cooperate with the Lord in the role of creating human life. Truly, a powerful gift from God. We honor women who, through life experiences, have chosen to adopt a child/children and make that beautiful decision to love these children with unconditional love. Serving as a foster mother is an amazing outreach to children in need of stability and acceptance. I keep in my prayers all the women who find themselves single parents. Through whatever life's circumstances, there is a child/children that need the support of love through challenging times. These single-parent mothers show us that sacrifice and doing the best they can is a witness of God's presence in our world.

I, also, want our community to recognize women who have been given the title "mom" by living a life of giving and serving. Even though they are not a mother in the traditional sense, they live in such a way that people view them as a role model, or as someone to learn from by their desire to love.

Blessings to all the women in whatever type of motherly role they have. We honor them and give thanks to God for their presence in our lives.

Happy Mother's Day.

Peace in Christ,

Fr. Eric

Happy Mother's Day: The Love of a Mother

On Mother's Day we are called to take a moment and give thanks for all the mothers who sacrificed so much for us. We give thanks to our own mothers who laid down their lives for our sake, who sacrificed so much for us, who in their own way revealed to us a glimpse of God's love. From the very moment of conception mothers beautifully give of themselves using their own bodies to grow and nurture life. It is a self-giving love unlike any other. It is through the love of our mother that we first experience the love of God. Indeed the love of a mother holds a special place in our hearts and in the world. St. Thérèse of Lisieux once said, "The loveliest masterpiece of the heart of God is the heart of a mother."

Although no mother on earth is perfect, we also have the example of Mary, our mother in heaven to help guide us. Mary reveals to us what authentic unconditional love looks like. Everything she does in her life is a reflection of God's immense love for each one of us. In our second reading, John challenges us to love as a mother loves, to love as God loves. John reminds us, "if we love one another, God remains in us, and his love is brought to perfection in us." By loving one another in this way we are able to keep God at the center of our lives and share it with others. The sacrifices and love of a mother, holds a special place in the world and so it should hold a special place in our hearts as well.

Here at St. Patrick, we have an amazing Moms

Ministry that gathers and contributes so much to the community. The Moms Ministry is an open, accepting place for all mothers, from pregnancy through grown children, to come and experience authentic community, personal growth, practical help, and spiritual hope. This ministry works to build circles of women who love each other like family, because raising humans is beautiful and hard, and having each other to lean on is life-giving. For mothers who are interested, we invite you to be a part of this ministry, to laugh, pray, cry, and embrace the journey of being a mom with Christ as your guide. Come experience companionship with women who understand how much it takes to be a mother. If you are interested in more information about our Moms Ministry, contact the parish office or send an email to moms@stpatcc.org.

I leave you with this quote from Pope Francis, "A society without mothers would be a dehumanized society, for mothers are always, even in the worst moments, witnesses of tenderness, dedication and moral strength....Dearest mothers, thank you, thank you for what you are in your family and for what you give to the Church and the world."

Stewardship

As humans, trapped, immortal bodies, many of us have a tendency to view life in the world through an earthly lens. This makes sense as we aren't all-knowing, transcendent beings. However, God is constantly inviting us to think bigger or, more to the point, to think higher.

As we celebrate the Ascension, we are much like the apostles in the first reading, staring up at Christ and the heavens with their feet firmly planted on earth. Not the angels' response, wondering why the apostles are so surprised. The apostles have seen miracles, and the risen, Lord, but they're still viewing the realities around them from a human perspective the invitation of scripture to think more as God thinks. That's why, in the second reading, St. Paul is praying that the Ephesians will receive "wisdom and revelation" and that their hearts will "be enlightened."

Similarly, Jesus is telling the disciples that, by the power of his Spirit, they are going to do things that humans can't normally do. They will "speak, new languages," "drive out demons," and "pick up serpents with their hands," just to name a few. Christ is trying to explain that as great as life has been with him on earth, greater things are still to come.

This week at Mass (where heaven and earth collide), thank the Lord for the ability to dream big and to do the extraordinary. Thank him for the talents he has given you and the humility to share those talents in the world for his glory and not your own.

Social Justice

We would like to take this opportunity to thank and acknowledge the efforts of Danielle Vermeer Environmental Programs & Innovation Specialist in the City of Phoenix City Manager's Office. Her collaboration and partnership with St. Patrick ensures that the water received from us is directed to the agencies that serve the most vulnerable in our community during the summer heat. A big thank you and appreciation to all of you as well during this water drive. Your generosity and compassion ensures that this most basic need is met for many who go without.

In addition to their partner agencies who share this gift of water out into the community, water is also sent to city departments who use it to keep their cooling & hydration centers running, like Library, Human Services, Parks Dept, and the Office of Heat Response and Mitigation for example.
