First Down with Fr. Eric

Dear Friends,

We welcome Bishop John Dolan to St. Patrick for two Confirmation/First Communion Masses. On Saturday, April 22 and the upcoming Saturday, April 29, we celebrate the children of the parish with these two sacraments.

The sealing of the Holy Spirit, first given to the children at their baptism, now fully completed at their confirmation, is a reminder of God the Father's great gift to us, the Holy Spirit.

And now these children join us at the table of the Lord for their first time to receive holy communion. The word Eucharist, from the Greek, means thanksgiving and these children can give thanks to God often for the many blessings they have received through their families.

We welcome Bishop Dolan to St. Patrick as he will meet the many families in attendance for these two Masses.

I want to thank the parish staff members who have worked with the children and their parents. It is a big undertaking to make this a good experience for them when preparing to receive these sacraments. And we affirm the parents who are fulfilling their baptismal promises to have their children live out the faith. I hope the parents remind their children they are always welcomed to the table of the Lord.

Again, congratulations to all the families!

Peace in Christ,

Fr. Eric

Stewardship

In this week's readings, we have three different types of "stories," if you will. In the first reading, St. Peter is delivering eyewitness testimony of the ministry of Jesus Christ to old followers and new believers, alike. He is recounting past events and prophecies and putting them into a new context, encapsulating all that Jesus did in just a few short verses. In the second reading, St. Peter, again, is bearing witness to Christ's life and work but in a much wider historical context. Rather than sharing glory stories about their days together on Earth, our first pope is demonstrating (historically and philosophically) how Jesus was always the Father's plan of salvation for us. But rather than boring us with details, he frames this history lesson as a story.

Finally, in the Gospel, we have one of the most compelling stories in all the gospels, the famous "Road to Emmaus" story. Here, the Holy Spirit works through St. Luke to share a story that is historically true but, also, symbolically rich. Christ, Himself, draws near and asks the travelers about their "story" if you will. After listening, Jesus then weaves together story after story from the Torah and the Prophets, all the while walking them to the eucharistic table. This encounter not only prefigures our Mass (Scripture and Sacrament shared on a Sunday), but also equips the two travelers with what? A story for the ages.

When we slow down long enough to look at our lives and how God is present and has always been, we begin to see how He connects the dots between the stories of our lives and others' journeys, as well. The stories begin and end in Him and at His altar.

Synodality... A way of being church!

The ancient process of synodality was introduced to us by Pope Francis in 2021 as a "Way of Being Church".

Synodality is the church (lay people and clergy alike) listening to the stirrings of the Holy Spirit. How do we do that?

We come together to listen deeply to each other and the Holy Spirit within each of us.

At St. Patrick Catholic Community we have adopted this ancient synodal process by purposefully coming together twice a year, Fall and Spring, to listen to the stirrings of the Holy Spirit within each of us in order to walk and grow closer to God together.

MARK YOUR CALENDARS AND JOIN US May 6-9 for 1 hour to further develop our practice and understanding of this "Way of Being Church".

Social Justice

A recent article by AZCentral highlighted the issues about the lack of affordable housing and the challenges people are facing at a local and national level. Here is a synopsis of this societal issue:

The housing choice voucher program, formerly known as Section 8, is a federal program that enables very low-income households to afford private market rental housing. Potential tenants pay 30% of their income on rent and the voucher covers the remaining balance. This program is funded by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). HUD allows people to apply to as many housing waitlists as they want, even across state lines. This, in turn, causes a phenomenon called "Waitlist Shoppers" for affordable housing.

Because the demand for affordable housing is so high across the country, people are willing to move to a whole different state if need be. This has an effect on local residents who are vying for subsidized housing and want to stay in their state. The country has roughly only 36 available rental homes per 100 low-income renter households. Waitlists can be as long as ten or twelve years. As an example on a local level, the City of Glendale received more than 11,000 applications for just 350 waitlist openings. Candidates from 48 other states have their names on this waitlist application.

With the demand being high and supply low, landlords tend to not accept housing vouchers for two reasons: the stigma of accepting a voucher and the administrative paperwork burden of vouchers. They are willing to move across state lines to obtain affordable housing without even seeing or vetting the location should they get accepted. Many get to locations and find that there are a lack of needs available like public transportation, food stores, or the neighborhood is dangerous because of crime.

HUD does not allow local housing authorities to limit their applicant pool, but they do allow them to prioritize certain groups like veterans, senior citizens, and people experiencing homelessness. There is an assigned point-system in place for this.

Experts have agreed that part of the solution to this crisis is costly and policies need to be changed or enacted on the front end. These individuals concluded that more vouchers need to be funded with adjustments to the current affordable housing programs. A universal voucher program would allow anyone who qualifies to receive one. The estimated cost of this is $62 billion a year but would assist almost 20 million people and give them the housing stability needed to lead healthier lives.

National Infant Immunization Week

April 24 – April 30

FIVE INTERESTING FACTS

1. Vaccines are highly effective. Childhood vaccines are 90% to 99% effective against diseases.
2. Many deadly diseases have been reduced. Many dangerous diseases that affect children have been reduced or eliminated completely due to immunization programs.
3. All vaccine-preventable diseases are extremely dangerous. The diseases that a child is vaccinated against can cause severe complications or even death regardless of whether they receive the best medical treatment or not.
4. The younger the child, the more effective. Babies react to vaccinations better — the younger they are the more effective are the vaccinations.
5. Vaccinations testing. All vaccinations are tested for safety — they must first prove to be safe and effective against the specific disease.

TUITION RATE INFORMATION

from the Diocese Catholic Schools Office

For parents registering their children for the 2023-2024 school year, please note: In order to receive the school's reduced Catholic Tuition Rate, your pastor must determine whether your family meets the criteria set by your parish for Registered, Active, Participating members. The definition of registered, active and participating varies by parish, but usually includes attending Mass regularly as well as contributing online or with an envelope to the offertory along with participating in the ministry life of the parish. If you have questions about your family's status, please contact the Parish Office.

Note: All Diocesan high school students receiving the reduced tuition rate for the coming year must have their status verified by their home pastor.

For St. Patrick Catholic Community Parish School Verification, parishioners must be registered, active and participating members for a minimum of six months prior to submitting their form for verification. For further requirements, please contact Torri Winn at twinn@stpatcc.org.

DRIVE A GOLF CART Change a life!

Why Drive? It's rewarding...

- To assist those who truly need help getting to the church.
- To be an ambassador of our faith community to out-of-town visitors.
- To serve families with kids. Kids love to ride the carts and it enhances their liturgical experience. (Who knows, it may be the reason they bring their own family to church when they grow up.)
- People often are disoriented by the large sections of parking and they value the personal assistance to safely find their way back to their car.
- You're already coming to Mass, why not try serving in a ministry while you're here?

To learn more about becoming a Golf Cart Ministry Driver contact Bob Limbocker at golfcarts@stpatcc.org for more information or questions.
