First Down with Fr. Eric

SPRING PARISH LISTENING SESSIONS NEXT WEEKEND - WE CONTINUE TO BECOME A SYNODAL CHURCH

What is Synodality? Synodality means journeying together as the People of God. It indicates a way of listening to each individual person as a member of the Church to understand how God might be speaking to all of us.

What is the purpose of Synodality?

Synodality is a way of “journeying together” – of living out our faith – that calls for speaking and listening to one another and the Holy Spirit in order to find a path forward in addressing the issues facing the Church in our day as we work to carry out our mission of making known the Good News of salvation in Jesus.

How do we do it?

One way is through Listening Sessions. This is a small group of 8-10 people with a facilitator who leads the group through listening to each other on a specific topic.

Our Spring Listening Sessions will take place after all Masses February 24/25, Monday morning February 26 after 8 am daily Mass and Tuesday evening at 6:30 pm. You will have a choice of three topics:

How has any of the challenges of mental health issues impacted you or someone you know? From your perspective, what would help and support look like?

The charisms of women are already present and at work in the Church today. What can we do to support them and to learn what the Spirit wants to teach us through them?

What have been the joys and sorrows you have experienced in the Catholic Church?

LET’S WORK TOGETHER TO MAKE OUR CHURCH STRONGER! BRING YOUR LISTENING EAR!

Stewardship

In many relationships, people hold back. There’s a tendency to give part of oneself, and then see if the other party reciprocates. The more the other gives, the more we trust that we can also give. Most relationships never get to that level of total trust and surrender that you see in many marriages. To be clear, this is not the formula for love, and this is not how God operates.

God doesn’t hold back any aspect of his love; God is perfect love all the time. For this reason, God doesn’t make mirror agreements or contracts with his people, but instead enters into covenants. In this first reading, we hear about the culmination of the Great Flood and God’s promise to mankind through his covenant with Noah. We hear him “recall the covenant I have made between me and you and all living beings.” The covenant extends beyond just Noah and his family to everyone. God wants to enter into a new and sacred relationship with us, and he does so through a covenant.

How does this divine relationship extend to all living beings? God is going to send us a redeemer. At the appointed time, God sent a prophet to point to a Messiah who would set straight the broken relationship (covenant) between God and his people. When Jesus announces that the kingdom of God is at hand, he gives a directive and invitation to partake in this dynasty. “Repent and believe in the Gospel.”

God is offering us salvation – all of his mercy, and love for eternity – in exchange for our humble repentance and intentional desire to live in love. This is why the psalm reiterates that God’s ways are both love and truth “to those who keep his covenant.”

St. Peter lays it out even more clearly in the second reading, showing the parallel between God saving Noah’s family from the waters of death and God saving us from death through the waters of baptism. God holds nothing back in his relationship with us. Do we?

Pope’s Prayer for the Terminally Ill
Let us pray that the sick who are in the final stages of life, and their families, receive the necessary medical and human care and accompaniment.

Week of February 12 - Prayer for Mental Health

Monthly Day of Prayer for Mental Health
This month the Pope asks us to pray for the terminally ill. People with a terminal diagnosis can experience mental health challenges such as depression, anxiety, and other serious mental health conditions. They can wonder if their life any longer has value. Pope Francis has said that “even in these harsh circumstances ... the value of their being is measured by their capacity to give and receive love.” Let us pray that people who are terminally ill know that they are loved and that they can always find hope in Christ.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Ruby Bridges, American Civil Rights Activist

Born September 8, 1954

At the tender age of six, Ruby Bridges advanced the cause of civil rights in November 1960 when she became the first African American student to integrate an elementary school in the South. When Ruby was two years old, her parents moved their family to New Orleans, Louisiana in search of better work opportunities. In 1959, Ruby attended a segregated New Orleans kindergarten. A year later, however, a federal court ordered Louisiana to desegregate.

Her parents were torn about whether to let her attend the all-white William Frantz Elementary School, a few blocks from their home. Her father resisted, fearing for his daughter’s safety; her mother, however, wanted Ruby to have the educational opportunities that her parents had been denied.

Ruby and her mother were escorted by four federal marshals to the school every day that year. She walked past crowds screaming vicious slurs at her. Undeterred, she later said she only became frightened when she saw a woman holding a black baby doll in a coffin. She spent her first day in the principal’s office due to the chaos created as angry white parents pulled their children from school.

While some families supported her bravery, others protested throughout the city. The Bridges family suffered for their courage: Abon, her father, lost his job, and grocery stores refused to sell to her mother, Lucille. Her share-cropping grandparents were evicted from the farm where they had lived for a quarter-century.

Ruby graduated from a desegregated high school, became a travel agent, married and had four sons. Ruby later wrote about her early experiences in two books and received the Carter G. Woodson Book Award. A lifelong activist for racial equality, in 1999, Ruby established The Ruby Bridges Foundation to promote tolerance and create change through education. In 2000, she was made an honorary deputy marshal in a ceremony in Washington, DC.

At ROCK45 we had an Old Testament HERO Fashion Show. Each of our ten small groups were given a hero in the Old Testament and taught the rest of their peers about their hero. We learned why God called upon these men and women, the virtues they demonstrated, and if they always listened to God the first time around. Like our friend Jonah, we sometimes need a second reminder to listen to God’s calling.

Our upcoming ROCK45 schedule:
~ February 19 - OFF for President’s Day
~ February 26 - Jesus in the Books (The New Testament)
~ March 4 - Garage Party!

ROCK45 is open to all 4th and 5th graders! For more information contact Diane Kar, 480-998-3843 ext. 209 or dkar@stpatcc.org.
