First Down with Fr. Eric

Dear Friends,

Football practice starts tomorrow as I begin my 16th season at Sunnyslope. The weather will be mostly hot during many upcoming practices and it is a challenge to have the team work hard when no one watches or notices.

The same thing happens in our parish and churches everywhere. There are dedicated people who work behind the scenes that many times go unnoticed - their hard work, their commitment to rehearse, to follow through with assignments, and to be present to do the work when no one is around to notice.

Lent, Holy Week, and Easter only happen when people work together. Please know that our parish staff members put in a lot of time to organize our Masses and events. My thanks to the many parishioners who gave of their time freely to help parishioners and guests have a spiritual experience during this holy season. In football people mostly see the finished result without realizing the hard work that went into it. The same goes for St. Patrick. Thank you to everyone.

My thanks go to Frank Dominguez our parish Administrator who has decided to return to retirement. Frank came out of retirement to be our Liturgist and eventually took on the role of Parish Administrator. I am grateful for the efforts and guidance he has offered our parish. I am sad to see him go, yet he feels the need to return to retirement and we wish him well.

We are currently in the 50 days of the Easter season and we will be breaking open the gift of resurrection. Our theme will continue with BE CHRIST.

Peace in Christ,

Fr. Eric

Christian Disciples in Mission Living Beyond Sunday

BY ERIC TAMAYO,
Pastoral Associate

Divine Mercy Sunday

This Sunday we celebrate Divine Mercy Sunday. It is a celebration based on the revelations of St. Faustina Kowalska from Poland. If you are interested I encourage you to learn more about her history and the history of this devotion. You may have seen the image of the Divine Mercy Jesus or have heard about the chaplet of Divine Mercy. It is a beautiful prayer to help us experience and receive the mercy of God in our own lives and in the world. This feast follows Easter because Christ's mercy is manifested in his resurrection and is won for humanity through his Passion and death.

This is a Sunday where we focus on the mercy of God. In today's readings we find the disciples hiding behind locked doors out of fear. Jesus passes through the locked doors and has a personal encounter with his disciples. I am sure many of us carry a lot of fears in our lives. Maybe there are certain things in your life that you keep hidden and locked away in your heart. Today we recognize the power of Christ to pass through those fears and pass through the part of our lives we keep locked away. Just as the disciples encountered Jesus behind locked doors, Jesus comes to us and shows us the depths of his mercy and love. But we also need to be open to receiving his mercy and love into our lives. It can be a difficult thing to open the parts of our lives we keep hidden and locked away, but usually those are the parts that we need healing from the most. Jesus offers us something no one else can give or nothing else can provide, peace. He offers us freedom from the dark and sinful parts of our past.

Pope Francis challenges us this week to lead the way and be a shining example of the power of mercy to heal wounds, forgive trespasses, and bring harmony in our families and communities. It is not easy to develop this part of our soul, especially since we have our wounds also, but this is what the message of Divine Mercy Sunday is all about. I encourage you on this day to look up the chaplet of Divine Mercy and pray it. Ask God to give you peace in your life where you need it the most. Ask God for his mercy and help, and pray that you may be open to receiving it. Maybe find the image of the Divine Mercy and gaze upon it and allow Him to enter into your hearts this week.

Stewardship

Stewardship

Faith often grows over time. Even after seeing the risen Christ, the disciples remained behind locked doors a week later. Yet, Jesus sends them out, just as the Father sent Him. John, exiled to Patmos for his testimony, hears the Lord say, "Do not be afraid." From Elijah to the Apostles to John, God continually meets His people in their fear and uncertainty—this is His Divine Mercy.

Throughout history, God's mercy has been revealed in many ways: through miracles, healings, and ultimately, through Jesus' sacrifice on the Cross. As Jesus taught in Luke 6:36, "Be merciful, just as your Father is merciful." He demonstrated this in feeding the hungry, healing the sick, and forgiving sins—works of mercy we are called to imitate.

This week as we ponder Divine Mercy in the context of stewardship, how can we point the way to the Resurrection in the way we serve others?
